AutoDisconnect Crack 2022 [New]

Dial-Up Networking is the standard method for connecting your computer to the Internet. With each call to the Internet, a new IP address is assigned to your computer and a new TCP/IP session is opened. These IP addresses and TCP/IP sessions can be very expensive, especially when Internet access has been prepaid. To offset the cost of minutes used, some Internet Service Providers offer 'download-cap' packages that limit the amount of data you can download in any given period of time. If you exceed the allotted 'download-cap', your connection will be disconnected. AutoDisconnect Download Page AutoDisconnect Review - Programming/Shell Utilities... Do you have a dial-up connection that remains connected but unusable for the extra minutes of connected time you have agreed to pay for? AutoDisconnect allows you to shut down your connection for that extra time after a set amount of inactivity.
